Ste. Anne's Country Inn & Spa, Grafton, Ontario

Ste. Anne's looks like a castle; to the readers who voted for it, it's enchanted. With only 29 guest rooms and 570 acres of grounds, this intimate destination spa encourages arriving guests to slip into a plush robe and remain in it throughout their stay. Fitness opportunities abound, but many choose only to be pampered. They opt for Elemental Nature, an assessment tool that recommends precisely the right treatment; they slip into a soothing moor mud bath; or they choose a calming hydrotherapy service.

Ste. Anne's is situated atop a natural underground spring whose healing waters are used in the spa—and even for drinking. $425-$525;

Caribbean

The BodyHoliday LeSport, Castries, St. Lucia

The almost 30 percent of guests who are repeat visitors attest to the tremendous appeal of the BodyHoliday LeSport as a spa destination. And with improvements now under way—more luxe villas with private infinity pools, an expanded spa, an additional restaurant—our readers expect there will be even more compelling reasons to return. The all-inclusive resort, which is devoted to health and well-being, offers a choice of daily spa treatments and an unusually wide array of activities and services (beach dives, snorkeling equipment, personal training, and golf green fees). Some say its restaurant is one of the best in the Caribbean, and singles appreciate the good-size rooms with no supplemental charge.
